GREAT BATTLE IN THE HOUSE.

The use of the Army as a Posse Comitatus---Lively Debate and Intense Excitement.--Speeches by Blackburn and Robeson.

Congress.

HOUSE.—Debate on army appropriation bill opened by Knott, of Kentucky. He spoke of the great and historical importance of principle involved in the question. He characterized it as the fundamental principleof, the Republican liberty that the ballot box should be protected from the slightest approach of the military power and that the voter shall be left absolutely free in exercising at the polls the highest prerogative of a citizen. He quoted the English statute of of George II for the removal of the troops from the place where an election is to be held and and cited Blackstone as writing that it is essential that the elections shall be absolutely free, and that therefore all undue influences are illegal and are prohibited. He had expected that such a question would have been discussed on the other side with calmness and dignity; but in this he had been grievously disappointed, particularly in connection with the speech of the gentleman from Maine, (Frye). That speech, while it might have been appropriate in "the small fry" of his party at some cross roads or village bar-room, it was unjust to that gentleman's general and generous nature.

Germany and the Pope.

LONDON, April 3.—A Berlin dispatch to the Times says: Herr Winshort's (clerical) interview with Prince Bismarck is the principal subject of conversation and newspaper comment, and has given rise no numerous surmises, but the fact that nothing has been revealed concerning its subject seems to show that no tangible result has been reached.

The Standard's Berlin dispatch scouts the idea that the interview had any bearing on the negotiations between Germany and the Vatican and denies that these negotiations are proceeding slowly.

ROME, April 3.—The Pope has summoned to the Vatican several ecclesiasts who had been punished in Germany for infractions of many laws. His Holiness desires by inquiry into various cases to find the line of conduct calculated to avoid any conflict with the law.

Manchester and Blackburn.

The Manchester guardian in its commercial article says: "Wednesday's market was exceedingly firm; some producers asked slight further advances while others held very steadily at Tuesday's quotations. Private advice from Germany report that the spinners there having taken large stocks of cotton when prices were low, are now supplying yarn at such rates that they are quite unable to compete. The Blackburn market on Wednesday was strong, but the recent decided advance of the prices checks the business considerably.

Extraordinary Facts in the History of the Elliotts---A Dreadful Record.

Frankfort Special to the Courier Journal.

FRANFORT, March 31.—Hon. O. D. McMana, Judge of this Criminal District, arrived here this evening from Cincinnatti to examine the law and consult the authorities on the subject of calling a special term of his court to try Buford for the murder of Elliott. Should he decide upon a special term it will probably be called for the fourth Monday in April. As his next regular term here does not begin until September, it is almost certain that the universal wish will be gratified and a special term held.

MRS. ELLIOTT'S CONDITION

has been one of great prostration ever since the assasination of her husband, and to-day it is considered critical. She has been in delicate health for years, and now that she is left without husband, children or near relatives, she has no desire to live. It is not known what estate Judge E. left, but it is certainly small, not exceeding three or four thousand dollars, and probably much less than that, as he was a very liberal man, and frequently went security for his friends. He had a poltcy in the Legal Aid Society that will pay about eight hundred dollars and twenty minutes before he was killed he remarked to Mr. Lawrence, Anderson the agent; "I wish you would hurry up and get five thousand members before I die." He was one of the sureties on Col. South's bond as lessee of the Penitentiary.

BUFORD'S BROTHER.

It is said that Henry Buford, notwithstanding his bad treatment in former years at the hands of the prisoner, has expressed his determination to withdraw from the Legislative race in Fayette county and devote his time and money to the defense of his brother. I have previously alluded to in the Buford family, and now I learn that the Elliotts also have some bloody chapters in their family history. Judge Elliott's father once killed his man: a brother of the Judge's was shot through the stomach and killed at the battle of Princeton, Va.; one brother killed another, and a fourth one blew his brains out in a fit of insanity. The rumor that Judge Elliott once slew a man is untrue. Though the bravest of the brave, he is not known to have ever had a serious difficulty with any one,

VIOLENT DEATHS

IF WE HAD a Senate and House of Ransoms the country would be exempt from partizan and sectional agitation. We print elsewhere this morning an extract from a speech made by him in the Senate on the last night of the session of the 45th Congress, in support and explanation of the above observation.

The Goldsboro, Snow Hill & Greenville Railroad.

Goldsboro Messenger.

The Commissioners named in the chater of the proposed Goldsboro, Snow Hill & Greenville Railroad met in the Court House at Snow Hill last Tuesday for the purpose of considering and carrying out the provisions of the charter.

Germain Bernard was called to the chair, and J. A. Bonitz and W. A. Darden acted as Secretaries. On assuming the chair, Col. Bernard explained the object of the meeting, and thereupon addressed the large gathering in the court-room in a most enthusiastic speech, in which he earnestly and effectively demonstrated the necessity of the road, and the great benfits to be derived from the projected line by the people in the counties through which it would pass. Col. Humphrey moved that the chair appoint a committee of two from each of the three counties, to confer together and reccomend time and places for opening books of subscription, and otherwise to carry out objects for which the meeting was held. This committee was appointed and made the following report: We recomend that books for subscription be opened on the 25th day of April, and be open to the 31st of May, to afford all who wish to subscribe the opportunity. Your committee further recommend that the subscribers to the capital stock of the road meet at Snow Hill on Saturday the 31st day of May next, for the purpose ot effecting a permanent organization as provided in the charter, and that the chairman of this meeting notify all subscribers to meet on that day and at the place designated.

JEFFERSON DAVIS.

WHY HE IS NOT AN ENEMY TO THE GOVERNMENT.

He is not an Enemy of the Country---He is, Like all of us, Human---History will Wither with Fire all that Seek the Discords of the Country.

[Extract from Senator Ransom's speech in the Senate, March 4th, 1879.]

Mr. Hoar. I have had occasion to believe that the Senator from North Carolina deals with great candor with this class of questions. Would you, if you were in our place, consent to a law which would put President Davis upon the muster-rolls, if you were satisfied that he was not now loyal in feeling and attachment to the Government?

Mr. Ransom. I might give the Senator an answer that would not be as frank as that I intend to give him. I might say that if I were in his place I should not have that belief; but I will meet the issue presented to me by the Senator. I tell him that if I were in his place as I am now in my place, and I speak deliberately, and believed Mr. Davis was an enemy of this country, I not only would not pension him, but I would have for him feelings of unutterable aversion. But, Mr. President, it is impossible that Mr. Davis can be an enemy of this country.

Mr. Hoar. I think he has been.

Mr. Ransom. No, sir; in one sense, in the sense intended by the Senator, he never was an enemy of his country.

Hr. Hoar. In the manner in which he never was, perhaps he is not now.

Mr. Ransom. Mr. President, I protest against this unfounded assumption that Mr. Davis is an enemy to this country—to his country. I shall pronounce no eulogy upon him, nor dwell upon his public service as an American soldier and statesman. He belongs to history as does that cause to which he gave all the ability and devotion of his great nature. There I trust both. He is, like all of us, human and doubtless has his resentments, his consciousness of undeserved abuse, of outraged sensibility, and of personal disappointment. But, sir, no one can follow his career as it is written in our history and doubt for one moment that he would unhesitatingly sink all of personal mortification and selfish aspiration rather than inflict injury upon his fellow-citizens. He and his family live under the protection of the flag. His trusted friends are here on this floor, and the Senator from Massachusetts has acorded to them his confidence in their patriotism. I repeat again and again it is impossible that he can be an enemy to this country. How can he separate himself from the great impulse of the whole South for a restored country. To do so would be a wrong to his fellow-countrymen of the South, and that would be more than a crime to himself. In the balance with his duty to them the sense of personal injury would not weigh a feather with him. I deny that he has uttered at any time since the reconstruction measure an indifference to the restored Union. The judgment of history will wither with fire the charge that he seeks to perpetuate the discords of his country. For years every utterance from him has been for its growth, its development, and its material and political unity. Sir, it is true that no groan, no complaint, no remonstrance, no protest, no plea has escaped his lips; but he can have no hope and no policy but for the peace, happiness and honor of the American people. He still has his convictions—he still has his opinions. I ask the Senator from Massachusetts if he had sincere convictions, the convictions of a life-time, would he willingly surrender them in a moment or to any policy?

Changes in Language.

T. B. Kingsbury in Wilmington Star.

In the sixth century in the language spoken in England out of every hundred words only six were of Greco Latin origin. A thousand years later—in the sixteenth century—forty-eight were derived from the Greek or Latin. At this time out of every hundred there are sixty-eight Graeco-Latinwords, thirty Anglo-Saxon, and two Celtic. It is very doubtful if the language has really suffered by the changes that have been made. Such an opinion will shock men like Gov. Seymour, of New York, who contend that the shortest words are the best, and that Anglo-Saxon is always to be preferred. Many eminent writers upon our language hold that "the substitute and added words have increased its vigor and refind its aptitudes for the utterance of thought and the promotion of action."

There is but little doubt, that even now as many people speak the English language as any other. If it has not yet reached that point, however, it is destined to do so, and "will at last rise to be the ruling speech of the world." Too much care cannot be taken in guarding our tongue against slang phrases and the introduction of a certain kind of Americanisms that prostitute and degrade one of the noblest and most flexible languages on earth.

The Bloody Fifth.

TO MANY MECHANICS:

We fear your observations have been quite limited in selecting representatives for our ward from the mechanics ranks. Mr. Hutchings can drive on, the harness fits him. Now give us two wheel horses, a pair that will work,—don't give us no Virginia distempered stock, nor no locomotive, give us a pair that will pull evenly. We want men who won't sneeze every time Col. Smith or Dr. Brown, or Gen. Squirt takes a pinch of snuff. We are aware that one of your selection is big, old, and ugly enough and possibly skillful enough too, to carry a hod, and if he wants to rise in the world its about the only way he can do it. Give us patriots, not parots, brains not barnacles, give us representatives whose brains will at least tally with those of an oyster. Trot in the right kind and we'll hitch em up.

WORMSY.

The Merchant Tailoring business that has been conducted under the name of C. Weikel, heretofore, will in the future be carried on under the name and style of C. Weikel & Co. All accounts due Mr. Weikel for work done by him have been placed in the hands of Mr. R. G. Lewis, his attorney, and will be collected by him. Weikel & Co. have on hand splendid goods, do first-class work for the smallest prices and take cash only for work done by them. *

The Revival at Goldsboro.

Messenger.

The meetings at the Methodist church under the guidance of the fair Mrs. Moon, continue without interruption, and the interest in them appears to be steadily growing and increasing in good results. The religious enthusiam appears to have spread through the surrounding country, and never in the history of Goldsboro was there its equal even in a remote degree. It is less than two weeks since her services commenced, and we learn that already about one hundred persons have become penitents and converts to Christ, and the end is not yet. The interest grows deeper and deeper with each succeeding day; people are coming from the country many miles distant; and at each service the church is crowded to its utmost capacity. Besides the two regular services, daily at 11 o'clock, a. m. and 7½ p. m., daily prayer-meetings are largely attended at the armory and at private residences.

A Word About Raleigh.

Correspondence of the News.

April the 3rd.—In the name of Artemus Ward, "why is this thus." That the law is not enforced with Hucksters, that they are permitted to buy all country produce before the citizens have a chance to get to market to buy their supplies without paying a profit to the same Hucksters.

Why is the law not enforced regarding our dry goods merchants who are advertising their spring goods by displaying these M. T. Boxes and thereby obstructing the streets, have you no more room in the NEWS for those merchants?

Can you get up a ticket for the next Municipal Elections to get aldermen or commissioners in, that will give us a paved street that is at least one by beginning with Fayetteville St. perhaps other will follow and sure the merchants are taxed enough to entitle them to that. Congratulations to your New Dress.

On to Henderson in Sixty Days.

Spartanburg (S. C.) Spartan.

Gen. Austell, of Atlanta, and Cols. Oates and McAden, of Charlotte, passed through town last week on their way to Henderson. They let out the contract of finishing the road to that point to the largest railroad man in the South, Col. Potts, who has agreed under penalty to have the iron horse in Henderson the 1st day of June next. Friday morning about sixty hands left this place for the head of the road, and Saturday six car loads of iron followed. We venture to predict that Col. Potts will complete the road before the time specified, for he has the reputation of getting more work out of hands than any man who has had railroad contracts in this State.

Nine more car loads of iron went off yesterday, making fifteen in all, which is about one-fourth iron enough for completing the road to Henderson. A new engine and two coaches have been ordered, and will be on hand for the summer travel.

Gentlemen Who Will Bear Watching.

The bank cashiers over the country are telegraphing around to each other to have an eye open for the genteel-looking Mr. Kingsley, of Kinley, who piped the Central National Bank of Columbia like a flute, and the other open for Mr. John M. Ryan, formerly of Memphis, more recently of Louisville, who pretends to be general agent for several insurance companies and who takes great pleasure in showing letters of credit from Barton, Ryan & Co., of Louisville—a mythical firm. Ryan is the man whose exploits at Salisbury and elsewhere in this State make the name fragrant in North Carolina. He is known all throughout this section and it may be of value to some one, should he come hanging around again, to know that he is wanted in Chattanooga, Tenn,, as Kingsley is in Columbia, S. C.

This latter party has been in this city, and while here won a name most unenviable. The peoplo here knew him so well that they require no advice to watch out for them.

The Drowned Captain of the Pinafore.

Philadelphia Times.

On Monday afternoon the body of a drowned man was picked up in the Schuylkill, near Callowhill street bridge. This was identified yesterday as that of Joshua Heiser, of Schuylkill Haven, captain of the canal boat Pinafore, who was drowned in November last by falling overboard. The remains had probably been under the ice since, and were in excellent preservation. A bottle of whisky was in one of the pockets, and this was also in good order.

Sir Edwin Landseer used to tell a beautiful story of a dog-stealer of his acquaintance, who once restored to a friend of Sir Edwin a valuable spaniel, two weeks after the time agreed upon when the matter was negotiated. Sir. Edwin upbraiding the man for his delay the latter finally said: "Well the truth is Sir Edwin,—you see, I had to steal him back from an old lady to whom I sold him for twenty guineas. She never higgled about the price, and she was fond of the dog, I don't think it would be Christian not to let her have a few days' pleasure of him."

Why Gladstone Did'nt Go to the Royal Wedding.

Londod Letter to New York Tribune.

It is certain that the omission of Mr. Gladstone's name from the list of invited guests was not an act of forgetfulness. It was pretty certain that the omission was brought directly to the Queen's notice, and it is said that her reply was:: "It is my son's wedding; I shall pay all the expenses, and I shall invite my own friends." The story has been in circulation for days; repeated at every dinner table and at every reception. Nobody has has yet contradicted it, and nobody seems to doubt that the speech the Queen is alleged to have uttered does in fact represent her real feeling in the matter.

MRS. OLIVER GETS NOTHING.

Gen. Butler Pathetically Appeals to the Jury, and the Judge Laconically Submits the Case with a Gesture of Painful Disgust.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—The Oliver-Cameron breach of promise case was given to the jury at 12:5 o'clock yesterday. Gen. Butler made the closing address for the defense. He spoke for over an hour, and made an unusually eloquent and effective plea. He argued first that there never was any promise of marriage. He had no harsh words for the plaintiff in this suit, but he could not too strongly condemn "those poor miserable scamps who were furnishing her money to carry on this suit, and who, undoubtedly, forged the letters on which she relied." He promised to pursue them with relentless pity. The only charge he had ever heard against Senator Cameron in his long ard honorable life was that he was "all powerful among his neighbors," which he, Gen. Butler, considered the highest certificate of character that can come to a man except from the hand of God. He would admit that the payment of money had a guilty look but it was done to secure peace of mind. The plaintiff, he said, admits that she is a "bad egg."

Gen. Butler then reviewed the main points of the case, and said the whole case hinged on the forged letters. If the jury believed them forged, that was an end to the case. Senator Cameron had not been called to the stand because it was not necessary. There was not that in the case to call him thither to be grinned at, stared at, and maligned.

In closing, Gen. Butler became very much affected, and spoke of his client as one who had acted as a father toward him, and he appeared for him in this case more as his friend than his counsel. In speaking of the importance of the case, he said it remained with the jury to say whether in the courts of Washington a woman can, by her unassisted word, make a suit like this against an eminent lawmaker. If they think she can, it will be time to remove the Capital, for under such a state of affairs no man will be safe here.

Mr. Peters made the closing argument in the case, speaking for forty minutes, and making a powerful appeal on behalf of the plantiff. In closing he expressed the hope that the verdict would be that the lawgivers of the nation would be taught that they couid not violate the law and then avoid the consequences by shielding themselves behind their high station and refusing to appear as a witness on the stand.

"Gather up the proof and papers in the case, and pass them to the jury," said the Judge to the Court Crier, and then turning to the jury made them the following laconic charge:

"Gentlemen of the jury, take this case and dispose of it."

The jury then, at 11:55 o'clock, retired. They returned into court at 2:55 o'clock this afternoon, after three hours deliberation, with a verdict for the defendant. The disappointed "widow" left the building disconsolate. There was much jubilation among Senator Cameron's friends and Gen. Butler was warmly congratulated.

The Voluntary Powers of the Government.

[Extracts from Garfield's speech in the House on the Army Bill, March 28th.]

Mr. Chairman, viewed from the standpoint of a foreigner, our Government may be said to be the feeblest on the earth. From our stand-point, and with our experience, it is the mightiest. But why would a foreigner call it the feeblest? He can point out a half dozen ways in which it can be destroyed without violence. Of course, all governments may be overturned by the sword; but there are several ways in which our Government may be annihilated without the firing of a gun.

For example, if the people of the United States should say we will elect no Representatives to the House of Representatives. Of course, this is a violent supposition; but suppose that they do not, is there any remedy? Does our Constitution provide any remedy whatever? In two years there would be no House of Representatives; of course no support of the Government, and no Government. Suppose, again, the States should say, through their Legislatures, we will elect no Senators. Such abstentation alone would absolutely destroy this Government; and our system provides no process of compulsion to prevent it.

Again, suppose the two Houses were assembled in ther usual order, and a majority of one in this body or in the Senate should firmly band themselves together and say, we will vote to adjourn the moment the hour of meeting arrives, and continue so to vote at every session during our two years of existence; the Government would perish, and there is no provision of the Constitution to prevent it. Or again, if a majority of one of either body should declare that they would vote down, every bill to support the Government by appropriations, can you find in the whole range of our judicial or our executive authority any remedy whatever? A Senator or a member of this House is free, and may vote "no," on every proposition. Nothing but his oath and his honor retains him. Not so with executive and judicial officers. They have no power to destroy this Government. Let them travel an inch beyond the line of the law, and they fall within the power of impeachment. But, against the people who create Representatives; against the Legislatures who create Senators; against Senators and Representatives in these Halls, there is no power of impeachment; there is no remedy, if, by abstention or by adverse votes, they refuse to support the Government.

At a first view, it would seem strange that a body of men so wise as our fathers were should have left a whole side of their fabric open to these deadly assaults; but on a closer view of the case their wisdom will appear. What was their reliance? This: The sovereign of this nation, the God-crowned and Heaven-annointed sovereign, in whom resides "the State's collected will," and to whom we all owe allegiance, is the people themselves. Inspired by love of couutry and by a deep sense of obligation to perform every public duty; being themselves the creators of all the agencies and forces to execute their own will, and choosing from themselves their representatives to express that will in the forms of law, it would have been like a suggestion of suicide to assume that any of these great vrluntary powers would be turned against the life of the Government. Public opinion—that great ocean of thought from whose level all heights and all depths are measured—was trusted as a power amply able, and always willing, to guard all the approaches on that side of the Constitution from any assault on the life of the nation.

LONDON WATER RATE.—A house of 8 rooms, renting for $200, and supplied by the Lambeth Co., pays $9.40 per year for water. One of 13 rooms, with a good-sized garden (which seems to be considered in the charge), pays $17.25. This house rents for $375, and it water supply is from the New River. Another house, supplied by the New River Co. has 8 rooms, and pays $10.50 for water. A fourth, with a like number of rooms pays the Chelsea Co. $10.50. One of 6 rooms, and renting for $150, pays the Southwalk and Vauxhall Co. $7 per year for water. These are specific cases which happen to be known to the writer, and will give a good idea of water rates.

Mr. Wm. Woollcott.

Among the prominent houses in this city, not the least is that of Mr. Wm. Woollcott. He may be said to be a successful business man, pays his bills promptly and has a handsome surplus besides. The history of his business career in this city will bear repeating. In 1873 he came to Raleigh with $150 in his pocket eager to embark in anything that looked big, His natural sagacity pointed out the hide and fur business to be the most profitable he could engage in at that time. He made a small beginning and by dint of hard work, gradually developed a trade that soon began to be talked of among the business public. He steadily progressed and in 1876 occupied with a large stock of goods the store so widely known as "Woollcotts Open Front." His trade was larger than he could accommodate and he was compelled to make a division of his stock. Accordingly he opened a grocery store near by an converted the open front into a dry goods and clothing establishment, both of which have proven a success. In 1878 he still farther enlarged his borders by opening a millinery store over which Mrs. Woollcott presides. In answer to the reporters question he said, "my success, whatever it may be, is due to my constant attention to business; my great care in buying; the low prices at which I sell; and last but not least, the enforcement of my rule never to credit any one." "Correct" said the NEWS man and still it rings in his ears. "Don't credit anybody."

A young man of Teutonic parentage got a marriage license at the court house a few days since, and remarked, as he turned to go: "By shorge, this is the most handlest gourt house in the gountry. You gits your marriage license in this room, und den you can shtep right into Shudge Yades's room and get married und den you can yoost go right up shtairs in the zireuit gourt und get a divorse!"—Peoria Call.

Josh Billings' philosophy: When I was a young man I was always in a hurry to hold the big end of the log and do all the lifting. Now I am older I seize hold of the small end and do all the gunting. Wise men make the mistakes and fools the blunders, and this is about all the difference between them.

Unheard of Bargains !

Who tries his best to please his friends
And in his labors never ends,
Bargains he'll give you when you call
For No. 10 is all and all.
Of other houses you hear them talk;
In Fayetteville street just take a walk
And only ask for No. 10,
Kept by the most ingenious of men,
And when his friends by chance drop in
Then forth he comes, Lord what a grin,
And to their wondering eyes displays
Such heaps of brackets and window shades,
His pictures are exposed to public view
And a variety of cord to suspend them too,
His looking glasses and toilet cases
Will help adorn your forms and faces;
Picture frames and mouldings too
In great variety, black, brown and blue.
His window cornices and lambrequins fine,
Will make your rooms and parlor shine.
Perforated mottoes, and white holly baskets,
And every other sort of stuff,
Of which he hopes to have enough.
So now he bids you all adieu
And wishes a happy new year too,
And not forget

Our country is getting to be fearfully alarming, the average of life being lessened every year, without any reasonable cause, death resulting generally from the most insignificant organ. At this season of the year especially, a cold is such a common thing that in the hurry of every day life we are apt to overlook the dangers attending it and often find too late that a fever or lung trouble has already set in. Thousands lose their lives in this way every winter, while had Boschee's German Syrup been taken, a cure would have resulted, and a large bill from a doctor been avoided. For all diseases of the throat and lungs, Boschee's German Syrup has proved itself to be the greatest discovery of its kind in medicine. Every Druggist in this country will tell you of its wonderful effect. Over 950,000 bottles sold last year without a single failure known.

POLITICAL, STATISTICAL AND DEPARTMENTAL NEWS.

Where Was the First War Gun Fired? A fool Jester in a Swallow Tail Coat---Commissioner Raum and the Revenue Raiders.

Special correspondence of the News.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 2.

In yesterday's debates in the House. Mr. Price (Iowr) asked where the first gun of the war was fired. Gen. Chalmers, in ready words and earnest manner, replied; "At Harper's Ferry, where Southern blood was shed on Southern soil," and this brought down the House. Gen. Chalmers quoted the threat uttered by Garfield, that the Republicans would not yield an inch, "even to save this Government," and said if this were not mere bravado to brace up the spinal column of the Executive, it was a threat to the people. He ridiculed the idea of "revolution," and in powerful language exposed the true position of the Republican party on this question. As he was about concluding one of the most eloquent and forcible speeches delivered in Congress for years, Gen. Chalmers was interrupted by Conger, who said the gentleman had declared that the first revolution had no terrors for him, and he (Conger) wanted to know if the revolution of 1861 had. Gen. Chalmers replied that in olden times the king of England kept a jester rigged in fool's cap and merry bells to make fun for the court; the Republican party in Congress also kept a jester, but instead of a fool's cap and the bells they dressed him in a swallow-tail coat. This was applauded with great enthusiasm in the galleries and on the Democratic side. Conger retorted that instead of replying to his question the gentleman had jumped upon his music-box and made grimaces to the House and country. The Republicans, as an offset to the hearty cheering that Gen. Chalmer's remark had elicited, yelled and stamped for full five minutes over their "jester's" reply. Conger, however, thick-skinned though he is, showed that he was down. He tried to smile, but it was only a sickly grin, and the title given him will no doubt stick. To his retort about grimacing, Gen. Chalmers pointedly replied that he would not thus infringe upon the prerogatives of the only monkey in the House.

The Senate Committee.

The Senate Fniance Committee yesterday informally decided that at present it will consider any of the bills which have been referred to it. There is an understanding, however, that in the event of Congress manifesting a disposition to enter upon general legislation this session the committee will then proceed to transact business as usual.

The Senate Committee on Patents adopted a resolution providing that no bills or petitions for extensions of patents shall be cousdered by the committee during the extra session.

The Senate Committee on Public Lands decided to report favorably upon the nomination of Charence King to be director of the geological survey. This committee also determined to take no action upon any legislative business during the present session, exceptin case of some of special need.

Raids on Illicit Distillers.

Commissioner Raum yesterday received an unusually large number of dispatches announcing the result of raids upon illicit distillers in different sections of the country. Collector Cooper telegraphs from Knoxville, Tenn., as follows: "My raiding party in Hancock County has returned. They were fired upon by a party of nine men Sunday afternoon. The fire was returned, and the assaulting party put to flight. None of the raiding party were hurt. Four illicit distilleries, two coppers, and a large quantity of mash and beer have been seized since my last report." Collector Young telegraphs from Raleigh: "Pennington's raid in Anson county captured four distilleries and had to retire to prevent bloodshed. Mason, with posse, captured eight in Orange county. They were attacked and fired at eight or ten times. Nobody hurt. He acted with courage and discretion." Revenue Agent Atkinson says in his dispatch from Morristown, Tenn: "Returned last night from a raid in Hancock County. Captured ten distilleries, six copper stills, caps and worms, 119 mash-tubs, 1,460 gallons mash, 210 gallons singlings, and 26 gallons whisky. Captured seven violators, and rode 280 miles on horseback. We were ambushed at three different times, and upward of forty shots fired, without serious effect. We succeeded in arresting the worst men in Hancock county, and had them bound over to court." Collector Clark, from Atlanta, Ga., telegraphs as follows: "Seized three distilleries on the 29th instant. Stills brought out, 6,000 gallons mash and beer destroyed, and three men arrested."

Preventing Epidemic Diseases.

Senator Harris bill, authorizing the construction or purchase of a refrigerating ship, to be used by the National board of health in preventing the importation of epidemic diseases, was passed in the Senate yesterday. To obviate objections, raised the day before by Mr. Hamlin and others, Mr. Harris struck out the name of Prof. Gamgee and left the Secretary of the Treasury wih discretion to contract for the construction or purchase of a vessel on the best terms, etc.

Garfield's Speech Emasculation.

In preparing his speech for the Record, Mr. Garfield subjected it to so liberal a toning down that nothing remains of some of his most stalwart utterances. Those who listened to the speech as it was delivered, last Saturday, understood Mr. Garfield to say that his parsy would not yield an inch, "even to save this Government." That expression, with others equally as vigorous, has vanished.

DAILY NEWS

FRIDAY, - - - - APRIL 4, 1879

HUSSEY, & JORDAN Proprietors.

JOHN B. HUSSEY, . . Editor.

SAYS the Washington Post: "If Mr. Hayes had been elected and installed in his office with entire regularity, and with scrupulous regard to all the requirements of fundamental and statutory law, instead of having been carried to the place which he holds over the ruins of a subverted Constitution and the violated statutes of States, even then such a stretch of power as is threatened in his behalf would arouse the deepest indignation of the insulted people.

To veto an act in relation to the election of Congressmen, an act on a subject which does not especially concern the Executive or judicial departments, and which comes within the special purview of the immediate representatives of the people, would be an unjustifiable and unauthorized use of power in a President whose title was as clear as was that of George Washington.

To veto an act containing no hint of aggression on the Executive department, no intimation of an assault on the rights of the judiciary, an act resulting from the cool, mature deliberation of a Congress backed by a majority of the voters, and indorsed by three successive biennial elections—such a veto would violate the very spirit and essence of our theory of government, and would be condemned, even if the vetoing power were used, by the wisest and best of the men who have lawfully filled the office now illegally held by Mr. Hayes.

No man who knows anything of the early history of this Government, no man who knows what the veto power was intended for, no man who believes that the founders intended to establish a republic in fact as well as in name, can claim that any President ever had, or could have, any justification for using that monarchical prerogative to thwart the will of the people, as Mr. Hayes is urged and expected to employ it against a measure now pending in the House.

And should Mr. Hayes fulfil the wishes and conform to the advice of the men who are leading his party in its reckless course, he will render it impossible for his Administration to cover with a fair showing of statesmanlike and patriotic acts the hideous criminality by which that Administration was created. He will do this, too, without preventing the majority of the people from deciding by what laws under the Constitution they will be guided in the election of their representatives in Congress."

THE bill introduced in the Senate Monday by Senator Harris is a matter of deep concern to our Southern cities, both from a sanitory and commercial standpoint. We are indebted to Commodore Marshall Parks, of Norfolk, for some valuable information in regard to it. The bill provides for the construction of a refrigerating ship. Prof. Gamgee, who has the active co-operation of Commodore Parks, has perfected the invention reducing all the air in a vessel of any size to a degree of temperature as low as the freezing point. His apparatus requires a vessel of peculiar design and construction for its transportation and operation. The refrigerating ship is to go alongside the infected craft and, in a few minutes, freeze out the fever germs, thus thoroughly disinfecting her. The highest medical authorities, including the most distinguished experts in yellow fever, have thoroughly investigated Prof. Gamgee's plan, and recommend its adoption. The only discovery of much value thus far made as to the prevention of cure of this disease is that they cannot live in a freezing temperature; that the freezing point not only checks it during the continuance of the cold, but destroys it, so that on the return of heat it does not revive. Cold weather has always killed it in the United States, and importation only has revived it.

It also promises important results to our Southern shipping.

IT IS idle to talk about Despotism and Revolution. It is idle to talk about "the dictation of caucus." The Republicans affect surprise that the Democrats should have sense enough, sense after eighteen years, exclusion from power, to consult together as to the proper course to pursue in relation to the political legislation now before Congress.

The Democrats are responsible for the legislation of Congress. They should take every precaution against frightening the country. The country is sensative about certain matters and the Democrats cannot too soon appreciate this fact. But there is nothing new in the caucus to alarm the country or to justify the cry of Revolution. The thing existed before the name. Men in general agreement on certain questions have in all ages consulted together for the purpose of coming to an arrangement on special details on which there were minor differences. Not only is there nothing wrong about such consultations, but it is eminently proper that they should be held. They are essential to party rule. They tend to party responsibility in matters of legislation. It is idle to talk about the dictation of a caucus. If a man cannot preserve his independence but by remaining in an Ishmaelitish isolation that man is hardly fitted to take part in politics.

THE following nationalities live under the sceptre of the Czar of Russia: Great Russians, Little Russians, White Russians, Poles, Finns, Estons, Samoyeds, Laplanders, Ostiaks, Tunguz, Yakuts, Kamtchadales, Tartars, Bashkirs, Kirguiz, Kalmuks, Teherkessi, Ossettini, Lesguini, Armenien, Lithauer, Tchuvashi, Ugalenzi, Coloshen, Tchukchi, Grusini, Yoriaki, Eskimos, Yucagniri, Lopari, Truchmen, Korels, Vaguls, Tchapogiri, Tchechenzi, Gypsies, Hebrews, and Mennonites. Each of these speaks its own language, which is foreign to all the others.

"The present number, which is the first issued under the new editorial managemen, is marked by freshness, vigor and independence, giving brilliant promise of an able and interesting periodical."

WHEN the Russian female doctors who heroically served as army surgeons in Turkey during the last Turko-Russian war returned to their country, they found that the opposition to their admission to regular medical practice had disappeared. They are now officially employed, on an equal footing with other members of the faculty, in many hospitals and in different provincial districts.

IT seems that the following Republican members of the House have obtained the opportunity to speak on the proposed amendments to the Army Bill, in the following order of precedence: Belford, of Colorado; Humphreys, of Wisconsin; Harry Wright of Pennsylvania; Williams, of Wisconsin; Frye, of Maine; Houck, of Tennessee; Haskell, of Kansas; Robinson, of Massachusetts; Barber of Illinois; Burrows, of Michigan; Reed, of Maine, and Hawley, of Connecticut, while others will doubtless be added to the list.

ENGLAND has undertaken a larger task than she anticipated in attempting the subjugation of the Zulus. The native warriors of the Zulu country are thus far more than a match for their adversaries, and since they feel they are fighting for their rights it is not surprising that they never fought with more bravery. It is possible that a measure of humiliation awaits England in South Africa.

Of the seven physicians nominated by the president to be members of the national board of health five are of the allopathic school and two are disciples of Hahnemann. The senate promptly confirmed the old-school doctors, but the two homœopathists are hung up. Dr. Verdi, of Washington, is one of the suspended pair, and a precious row is being kicked up over his non-confirmation.

THE American consul at Siam is making famous progress in establishing a system of public education in that country. In the meantime, the negroes in the south are left, so far as the republican philanthropists at the north are concerned, to "educate" themselves with the ballot. They make fine missionaries—these republicans.

LAST year the lower House of the Penn. Legislature consumed $23,000 worth of stationery—about $100 worth to each member; and the Senate $11,000, or $220 to each to each member. An investigation has therefore been ordered to ascertain how the members managed to use up so much in the one hundred days to which the session is limited.

DURING 1878 the American and English societies distributed 3,850,376 Bibles, viz: In Russia, 740,823 in 69 languages; in Turkey, 64,508 in 9 languages; India, 343,616; China, 159,103; Japan, 61, 398; Italy, 52,828; France, 133,160; Servia and Roumenia, 128,170; Spain, 68,393; Austria, 274,362; Germany, 468,108; South America, 35,348; Mexico, 30,000.

IN response to the sharp interrogatory from Representative Steele; Frye, of Maine, said the reason there were no political murders in North Carolina was because there were more white Republicans in that State than any other Southern States.

THE mean thing about ex-Governor Tilden is that he refuses to paralyze according to programme. It will hardly be worth while for the organs to go to the trouble of laying out plans for prominent Democrats unless more attention is paid to them.

FRYE, of Maine, said in his speech in the House Tuesday, that the Democratic party would never repeal the election laws until they removed the present Executive.

Revolution Booming.

The municipal elections held in various Western cities yesterday resulted in general Democratic victories. Chicago went Democratic for the first time in years, the whole city ticket being elected by a sweeping majority. The Democrats also carried everything their own way in St. Louis, electing a majority of both branches of the city council.

Which Was "The Lost Cause."

Atlanta Constitution.

"Which was the 'Lost Cause,' anyway?" asks the able editor of the Tribune in a deep bass voice. In solving such a connundrum as this, we shall not attempt to conceal our emotion. As we understand it, the 'lost cause' is the republican cau-cause.

The Truth Seems to be.

Philadelphia Record.

It is not probable that the country will be deceived by the beating of the Republican tom-tom. Through a gradual change in the national sentiment the political character of the two Houses has been revolutionized. But, behold! No sooner does the Democratic majority go about repeating the partisan legislation set up by their predecessors than the Republican managers start the hollow-hearted cry of "revolution." The truth seems to be that they have been so long in authority that any attack upon their party supremacy has come to be regarded as an attempt upon the life of the Government itself, and a deliberate effort to undermine the prosperity of the nation.

Garfield's Revolutionary Speech.

Philadelphia Times.

General Garfield's revolutionary speech of Saturday last was made for two purposes; first, to sound the long roll of despair to shattered Republican lines; and, second, to provoke a foolish answer from some Confederate Brigadier to do for General Garfield and his revolutionary associates what they can't do for themselves.

History Repeating Itself.

Philadelphia Times.

A score of years of almost unchallenged Republican rule have brought history back to its starting point again to repeat itself. Rejected and distrusted Democracy could never have been recalled to power had Republicanism been faithful to its great mission; but when its grandest achievements were being consummated, the spoiler entered its sanctuary, deformed its altars, prostituted its temple to mean ambition and insatiate greed, and defiled its monuments with the slime of the placeman. In despair, the country recalled Democracy to power, and the Republican leaders, like the arrogant Democratic leaders of twenty years ago, have learned nothing and forgot nothing, and they would convulse the country in their dying agonies. The peace and business prosperity of forty millions of people are counted as nothing if the Republicanism that has been rejected for perfidy, can ride back to power in a tempest of public woes.

Of Course They are Solid.

Baltimore Gazette.

It is given out that the republicans are as "solid as a rock" in resistance to the demand for the repeal of the law authorizing the use of troops at the polls, the employment of unlimited deputy United States marshals at the polls and and the law giving to the federal supervisors the absolute control over the election machinery which, under Judge Bond's rulings, they have. Of course they are solid as a rock against the repeal of these acts, for it is only by the unscrupulous use of all this ingeniously contrived machinery of force and fraud that they hope to defeat the will of the people in the election of 1880.

Reliable Evidence.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:

Dear Sir—I will most cheerfully add my testimony to the great number you have already received in favor of your great and good medicine, VEGETINE, for I do not think enough can be said in its praise, for I was troubled over thirty years with that dreadful disease, Catarrh, and had such bad coughing spells that it would seem as though I never could breathe any more, and VEGETINE has cured me, and I do feel to thank God all the time that there is no good a medicine as VEGETINE, and I also think it one of the best medicines for colds and weak, sinking feelings at the stomach, and advise everybody to take the VEGETINE, for I will assure them it is one of the best medicines that ever was.

DAILY NEWS

FRIDAY, - - - APRIL 4, 1879.

STATE PRESS.

Piety and Politics.

N. C. Presbyterian.

Are they irreconcilable? They ought not to be. For politics ought to signify the discussion of the best methods of doing that which is honest, wise and just for the promotion of a country's well-being. And therefore the moral principles of our holy religion ought to control everything political.

Some Live Democrat Will Say.

Wilmington Sun.

When the dull, drowsy Radical readers of manuscript speeches get through in Congress, some live Democrat will probably have something to say to which the country will give heed. The South is very much obliged to Mr. Belford for his disinterested advice, but we prefer to get our information concerning the loyalty or treason to our party of Northern Democrats, from sources somewhat nearer home than Colorado.

Not Dead But Sleeping.

Salisbury News on resuming publication.

Good morning, friends! We were not dead, but only sleeping. After turning over the matter in our mind several times, reflecting upon the past and speculating as to the future, and noting the fact that resumption is the order of the day, we concluded to "resume," and so fell into ranks, to march on, we hope, to victory. In fact, the great expense under which we labored before (that was greater than we could bear) having been removed, we see no cause for failure, and therefore look forward confidently for success.

The Unfair Northern Editors.

Wilmington Sun.

The Northern editors are in the habit of ridiculing everything that Ex-President Jefferson Davis may say. They never seem to stop to weigh the truth or falsity, the wisdom or nonsense of his utterances, but jump at the invariably conclusion that he is incapable of speaking moderately or reflecting wisely.

Indictable Offence.

Winston Leader.

We commend the late Legislature for one one of its Acts, that of making the slander of women an indictable offence. Idle talk and slander about women is a habit too commonly practiced. The purity and virtue of women is next to Christianity and is the chief bulwark of civilization. It ought to be held sacred. Heretofore there was absolutely no protection for the women of our State. Now a woman-slanderer can be arrested, indicted, and punished as a criminal. We would caution our gossipy friends as to how they use the name of womman, for they might get into truble.

A Sad Fact.

Christian Advocate.

It is a sad fact that there are four hundred thousand more liquor dealers than ministers and teachers in the United States. This is a mortifying record to the christian heart. If every church and every minister and every layman would really do all they can to check the evil of intemperance, the number of liquor dealers would decrease and the number of ministers and teachers would increase. Go to work in your own community, with your neighbors and their children, and do all you possibly can to check and finally banish the evil from our land.

The Celebrated Seven Springs Iron and Alum Mass.

This is decidedly the most useful, besides being the most efficient Family Medicine ever placed within the reach of any people. Its reputation extends far and wide, and its great popularity is due entirely to its own merits. For relieving Sick and Nervous Headache, it may be truly said, to have no equal. Dyspeptics find it just the remedy for their troubles. Mothers and daughters have long since discovered in its use a "panacea" for their worst ills; and now we have the testimonies of two eminent ministers of the gospel, from Southern cities, setting forth its specific effects in other more dreaded and troublesome diseases.

Rev. John F. Mayne, Theological Seminary, Columbia, S. C., writes: "Am afflicted with that terrible disease, 'Diabetes;' am using the 'Seven Springs Mass' with a considerable degree of relief; is the only remedy I have yet found to suit my case; want to continue its use until a cure is effected if possible. Send worth of the enclosed P. O. order immediately.

JNO. F. MAYNE.

Columbia, S. C., Jan. 23d, 1879.

Rev. J. D. Parker, of New Orleans, La., writes: "Having tried effectually the 'Seven Springs Iron and Alum Mass,' for Diarhea, Kidney afflictions, &c., I take pleasure in recommending its use in these complaints. In my case it affords immediate relief.

MEDICINES.

THE GENUINE

DR. C. McLANE'S

CELEBRATED

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

ACUE AND FEVER

DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL.

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated. Every box has a red wax seal on the lid, with the impression DR. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS between the letters C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrappers.

Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.

LIVER

This important organ weighs but about three pounds, and all the blood in a living person (about three gallons) passes through it at least once every half hour, to have the bile and other impurities strained or filtered from it. Bile is the natural purgative of the bowels, and if the Liver becomes torpid it is not separated from the blood, but carried through the veins to all parts of the system, and in trying to escape through the pores of the skin, causes it to turn yellow or a dirty brown color. The stomach becomes diseased, and Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation, Headache, Biliousness, Jaundice, Chills, Malarial Fevers, Piles, Sick and Sour Stomach, and general debility follow. MERRELL'S HEPATINE, the great vegetable discovery for torpidity of the Liver, causes the Liver to throw off from one to two ounces of bile each time the blood passes through it, as long as there is an excess of bile; and the effect of even a few doses upon yellow complexion or a brown dirty looking skin, will astonish all who try it—they being the first symptoms to disappear. The cure of all bilious diseases and Liver complaint is made certain by taking HEPATINE in accordance with directions. Headache is generally cured in twenty minutes, and no disease that arises from the Liver can exist if a fair trial is given.

No greater wrong can be done than to say that Consumption is incurable. GLOBE FLOWER COUGH SYRUP will cure it when all other means have failed. Also, Colds, Cough, Asthma, Bronchitis, and all diseases of the throat and lungs. Read the testimonials of the Hon. Alexander H. Stephens, Gov. Smith and Ex-Gov. Brown of Ga., Hon. Geo. Peabody, as well as those of other remarkable cures in our book, free to all at the drug stores, and be convinced that if you wish to be cured you can be by taking the GLOBE FLOWER COUGH SYRUP. BLOOD

Grave mistakes are made in the treatment of all diseases that arise from poison in the blood. Not one case of Scrofula, Syphilis, White Swelling, Ulcerous Sores and Skin Disease, in a thousand, is treated without the use of Mercury in some form. Mercury rots the bones, and the diseases it produces are worse than any other kind of blood or skin disease can be. DR. PEMBERTON'S STILLINGIA AND QUEEN'S DELIGHT is the only medicine upon which hope of recovery from Mercurial, Syphilitic or Mercurial diseases can be safely based, ably founded, and the cure Certain. Ninety-nine will be proof to the proprietors if Mercury, or any ingredient purely vegetable and harmless can be found in it.

Burke County, W. N. Carolina,

The unprecedented success with which the proprietors have met during the past, and their first season having had some five hundred visitors, will encourage them to make further extensive improvements, as it is their ambition to make this the first Watering Place South.

Many persons having received such great benefit during the past season from the use of our Lithia Waters, we have concluded to place it upon the market, and it will be found for sale by all the leading druggists in the State.

THE CITY.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

——Revenue receipts Thursday $20,235,87.

——A report says. "Hillboro was on a drunk Wednesday of court week.

——Mr. Whitehurst was drowned at Hatteras on Tuesday last.

——Convicts from Chatham, one white and two colored were brought in yesterday by deputy sheriff Spence Taylor.

——The Equitable Life Insurance Co., of New York city, has renewed its license to carry on business in this State.

——The McWade troupe did not perform Rip Van Wrikle last evening, concludiug to go to Norfolk instead.

——Next Sunday is Palm Sunday; after that comes Passion week, or Holy week, and then follows Easter Sunday.

——Mr. Geo. M. Smedes has moved his law office from the Citizens National Bank building to the second floor of the Pullen building.

——Services will be held in the lecture room of the 1st Presbyterian Church to-night, preparatory to the communion next Sunday.

——Don't fail to go to the grand Exhibition at Metropolitan Hall to night for the benefit of Thompson's Silver Cornet Band, Street Parade at 4 oclock p. m.

——The firm of W. T. Blackwell & Co., invested in $20,000. worth of Revenue Stamps yesterday. This is the largest purchase ever made in this State.

——The freight business is now immense, the rattle of dray wheels is heard all day, while the store fronts are almost hidden from view by the piles of goods boxes.

——We have heard of Elevated Railways, swinging baskets, hammocks balloons, bird cages;and swinging corners, but yesterday was the first time we ever saw a swinging beer garden.

——The good people pive for a relish in the way of a bit of scandal, but pure in vain, for the city has wrapped itself in its mantle of quiet and refuses to produce a bit of a sensation.

——The NEWS deserves to express it appreciation at the many compliments paid its new dress, and hopes to desire all the accompanying good wishes.

——As the days go by the discussion of matters municipal becomes yet more lifely, and the street politician is become quite a prominent feature.

——The reign of the ulster is not yet over, and "gentle spring" takes a back seat, for a time, at least. Yesterdays chil breezes blew away every vestige of warmth and left winter's coldness in its stead.

——A very handsome triangular sign with light in the top has been placed on the corner of Fayetteville and Martin streets, near Battle & Mordecias office, by that enterprising saloonist, Capt. T. F. Lee. This will be a charity to boys who huddle together at that point every night.

——The Register of Deeds of Wake requests the preacher or the justice who solemnized the rite of matrimony between Henry Privett and Hixey Perry, whites, to come forward and sign the certificate annexed to the license. The license was issued on the 24th of December, 1878.

——The Charlotte Observer says that Messrs. Haas, Clark and Pope, general freight agents of the Richmond & Danville, Carolina Central, and Wilmington & Weldon railroads, respectively, met in Richmond yesterday and prepared a table of rates to be constructed in accordance with the recent act of the North Carolina Legislature. Their work will be submitted to a meeting of railroad officials to be hereafter called.

April bills are just ready to blossom,
The corn-doctor hovers around;
While the merchant stirs up his trade,
And the farmer likewise the ground.

Cotton Lively.

The prices of the staple took a leap upward yesterday, and things wore a lively look. Capt. J. J. Thomas disposed of one of the finest lots of cotton sold this season, 266 bales, all raised on the farm of the late Jeff Fisher, Esq., near the city. For some of this 10¼ was obtained.

Dissolution of Copartnership.

As will be seen by advertisement elsewhere, the copartnership heretofore existing between Messrs. Lynn Adams and B. L. Bingham, is dissolved by limitation. Mr. Adams will continue the business at the same place. It is hoped that Mr. Bingham will again go into business, as the city cannot afford to lose so clever a merchant.

Improvement.

The Raleigh & Gaston Railroad Company keeps apace with the progress of the times and is now having built an extension to its warehouse and freight platform which will bring it out to Halifax street. The office will be entered from this street. The old lumber shed has been torn away to make room for these improvements. Down near the car shed a large store room for railway supplies is being built.

Military News.

That clever young gentleman John M. Sherwood, has been elected Junoir Second Lieutenant of the Raleigh Light Infantry, and the new organization so to speak, so is now complete. The command will soon on parade. The officers will wear shoulder knots discard ing their former uniform. The company is receiving numerous accessories to its roll and is in a flourishing condition, and its excellent commander, Capt. Ferrel, will keep it so.

Counterfeit $50 Notes.

A large stock of counterfeit fifty dollar notes on the Central National Bank, and the Tradesmen's National Bank, of New York city, remaining in the hands of counterfeiters, they are now endeavoring to utilize them by removing the title and substituting that of the National Bank of Commerce of New York. Several of these altered notes have made their appearance in New York. The object of changing the titles is to pass them the better, the old counterfeits having become so well-known as to render their passing almost an impossibility. Great caution should be exercised by those who handle fifty dollar notes of the National Bank of Commerce, as the counterfeits are good ones.

Messrs. Geo. Sloman & Co.

The firm of M. Rosenbaum & Bro. has been dissolved, and a co-partnership has been formed between Mr. Geo. Sloman and Mr. Jacob Rosenbaum, who succeed the old firm. These gentlemen are old citizens of Raleigh, having been actively engaged in business for the past 13 or 14 years. Mr. Sloman is North laying in a new stock of goods, and will return in about ten days.

Take Out Your Licenses.

Section 34 of "An Act to Raise Revenue," (Schedule B) provides: "That in order to carry on any trade or practice any profession, or exhibit any circus, side-show or any other amusement, or to enjoy any otker subject named in said Scedule, not otherwise provided for, (that is to say, all for which a State license is not to be taken out,) the person so practicing, exhibiting or enjoying, or his agent, shall apply to the sheriff for a license, which shall be granted by the sheriff upon payment of the required fee, but shall not be valid until countersigned by the registered."

This law applies to every merchant, trader and dealer. All must take out a license, which costs only seventy-five cents. Now is t time.

The Celebrated Seven Springs Iron and Alum Mass.

This is decidedly the most useful, besides being the most efficient Family Medicine ever placed within the reach of any people. Its reputation extends far and wide, and its great popularity is due entirely to its own merits. For relieving Sick and Nervous Headache, it may be truly said, to have no equal. Dyspeptics find it just the remedy for their troubles. Mothers and daughters have long since discovered in its use a "panacea" for their worst ills; and now we have the testimonies of two eminent ministers of the gospel, from Southern cities, setting forth its specific effects in other more dreaded and troublesome diseases.

Rev. John F. Mayne, Theological Seminary, Columbia, S. C., writes: "Am afflicted with that terrible disease, 'Diabetes;' am using the 'Seven Springs Mass' with a considerable degree of relief; is the only remedy I have yet found to suit my case; want to continue its use until a cure is effected if possible. Send worth of the enclosed P. O. order immediately.

JNO. F. MAYNE.

Columbia, S. C., Jan. 23d, 1879.

Rev. J. D. Parker, of New Orleans, La., writes: "Having tried effectually the 'Seven Springs Iron and Alum Mass,' for Diarhea, Kidney afflictions, &c., I take pleasure in recommending its use in these complaints. In my case it affords immediate relief.

POLICE YOUR PREMISES!

Attention is called to Sections 3d and 4th, Chapter IX, City Ordinances, relating to nuisances.

B. C. MANLY, Mayor.

April 1-1w—

Dread and despair fall upon the community when a terrible epidemic, like the cholera or yellow fever, suddenly desolates our homes: yet, all the while, a more insidious, but no less fatal foe, enters thousand of households every year and carries off the flower of the family in the early flush of manly youth and budding womanhood. People call it presumption, or "decline." It is not, in most cases, the tubercular phthisis or consumption of the lungs, which is the peculiar maladyin climates like those of that British Islands and New England, but a general decay or arrest of the vital processes of nutrition. All the doctors agree that there is no remedy for this but COD LIVER OIL, but they are constantly lost by the obstacle of inability on the part of the patient to swallow or retain it. This repulsion is entirely overcome by SCOTT'S EMULSION OF THE OIL with the HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA which is agreeable to the taste, and an unexcited nutrient and tonic for the whole nervous and brain.

Mr. Wm M. It is truly marvelous.

A Remedy that has been remedied.

The invincible repugnance felt by almost every one to the smell and flavor of Cod Liver Oil, has prevented tens of thousands of the victims of debility, from reaping the benefits of its peculiar healing and nutritive properties. The almost hopeless consumptive, the martyr to Rheumatism, the barely living shadow of men, women and children that emerge from the clutches of malarial fevers, all of these know, or at least their doctors know, that of all discovered remedies, this Oil is the best and often the only one that will build up their wasted bodies, and restore their shattered nerves, and far more effective than the Oil by itself is Scott's Emulsion of it, with the Hypophosphite of Lime and Soda. This is the finest and most natural food and medicine in the world, and wholly deprived of the disagreeable qualities. Sold by Wm. Simpson, Druggist. March 4-dsw3w

REMARKABLE cure of an inflamed tear duct or passage to the eye, without an operation.—Mrs. Gibson, who has a large and extensive confectionery and candy store at No. 25 East 42d Street, near the Grand Central Depot, was about to have a silver tube inserted in the tear passage of her left eye. The enlargement and inflamation were very great. Before submitting to the operation, tried Dr. Gil's Liniment, rubbed in carefully over the inflamed duct. The inflamation disappeared the passage became clear, and was through it never able to do without a surgical operation. Also took the Liniment internally, a teaspoonful three times a day, in a wine glass of water. Sold by all druggists
